

TWO MOKENA BOY SCOUTS WALKED THE 21 MILE LINCOLN TRAIL

Joliet Man Will Explain Sr. Scout Work Saturday

Will Mokena have a senior Boy Scout troop? Efforts to solve this question will be made at a meeting to be held in the home of Milton Geuther, Saturday evening, October 1 when Mr. Al Juterback, of the Rainbow council of Joliet will be present and explain the purposes and plans for organizing scouting for boys 14 years and over.

All boys in the age group who are interested are asked to attend this meeting and bring their Dads with them.

The new national Scout regulations require all boys in the age group who want scouting, to be members of a senior group. Up to this time Mokena has had no senior organization, but if there are boys who are interested, such an organization will be formed. The meeting Saturday night, which starts at 7:45 o'clock will determine whether there is any interest along these lines.

He was united in marriage with Miss Ida Beckman of Frankfort. They moved to Beach, N. Dakota where they farmed until ill health caused him to retire. They moved to Long Beach and lived there for the past 20 years.

Adonia Ruder and Carl Mietsner Exchange Vows in New Lenox Church

Miss Adonia Mae Ruder, sister of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin A. Ruder, New Lenox, became the bride of Carl A. Mietsner, son of Mrs. Gus Mietsner, also of New Lenox, at a seven o'clock candlelight service in the Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church, Saturday night, Sept. 24.

The pastor of the church, Rev. Leonard Reinke, read the double ring service before an altar decorated with gladioli and asters.

Mrs. Amos O. Bruns, pianist, played wedding selections and accompanied Miss Jean Rydberg when she sang, "Oh, Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride given in marriage by her brother, was attractive in a white slipper gown with lace trim and a fitted bodice with white buttons down the back and long fitted sleeves. Her finger-tip veil was caught by a rolled satin and seed pearl tiara. She carried a white prayer book with four gardenias and stephanthus. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls.

Billy Bradley and Russell Geuther of Mokena went on the Lincoln Trail hike for Boy Scouts Monday. They were accompanied by Russell's father, Milton Geuther as far as New Salem, Ill., when he motored there. From New Salem they started out and walked the path to Springfield, made famous by Abraham Lincoln when he made the trip by foot, the only way he had to get to Springfield.

This hike was originated by the late Scout Commissioner R. Allen Stephens of Springfield, in 1926. He was impressed by the story of how Lincoln on many occasions walked the 21 miles to borrow books from his friend, John T. Stuart, so that he might continue his study of law. Mr. Stephens believed that Boy Scouts would acquire a greater appreciation of the obstacles Lincoln overcame in his rise to the highest office in the nation, if they, too, would walk over that same route.

Billy and Russell averaged 3 miles per hour. They took along sandwiches and candy and made the trip in seven hours. The boys enjoyed the trip but said when they reached the outskirts of Springfield their feet were becoming quite sore. They were trained for home at Springfield, arriving again in Mokena in the evening of the same day they left.

To the boys making this required trip there is a much coveted medal: one side shows the profile of Lincoln's head with the words "1809-1909, Abraham Lincoln." The other side is engraved with "Scout, individual's name, Walked in Lincoln's Steps, and the date." Since this hike has been instituted over 8,000 Scouts from 19 states have made the hike and earned their medals.

Mokena is proud of the fact that she has two Scouts in this number.

Bernice Cowen and G. Klier Married

Miss Bernice Cowen, daughter of Mr. Harold Cowen of Tinley Park and Gilbert Klier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Klier of Frankfort were united in marriage Saturday evening September 24, at seven o'clock in the parsonage of the Trinity Lutheran church, 159th and Oak Park avenue, Tinley Park. The pastor, Rev. H. E. Mensing officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a blue velvet street length dress with a corsage of red and white carnations. The attendants were Miss Marie Klier, sister of the groom and Clarence Cowen, brother of the bride.

Miss Klier wore a wine color velvet street length dress, fashioned the same as the bride's. Her corsage was red and white carnations.

A reception was held in the home wedding where 40 relatives gathered to congratulate the young couple. The bride's father followed the bride with a white linen cloth and was centered with a three tiered wedding cake and white candles.

The groom is employed at the B. & R. Sugar Supply company in Evergreen Park.

Deadline Moved Up For Applying for License Reassignment

Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett today repeated his reminder to motorists that the deadline for applying for reassignment of this year's auto license number has been moved forward one month by action of the recent General Assembly.

The previous deadline date of December 1 was changed to November 1 by an act passed by the 66th General Assembly and signed by the Governor.

"So that no one will be disappointed in not getting their license number reassigned," Secretary Barrett said, "I urge them to keep the new date in mind. The moving up of the date will enable this office to start mailing plates one month earlier, thus getting the majority of plates into the mail before the Christmas mail rush which has slowed up the process of getting licenses of car owners in previous years. Please remember the new date—November 1."

The best man was Irvin Ruder, Jr., and Robert Paulson and Paul Alexander were ushers. Laddie Ruder, nephew of the bride was ring bearer. He carried the rings on a white satin pillow trimmed with lace.

Mrs. Ruder chose for her sister-in-law's wedding a gown of peacock blue crepe with black accessories and the groom's mother wore a dark green flowered print with black accessories. Each wore a corsage of inserted white gladioli.

A reception was held in Cantigny hall in Joliet, following the wedding where 275 guests were present. The bride's table was decorated with flowers and a four tiered cake decorated with a miniature bride and groom beneath an arch of flowers. Mrs. Ruder served the cake.

When they left for the wedding trip to northern Minnesota, the bride was wearing a forest green two piece suit, a white satin blouse and cocoa brown accessories and a corsage of gardenias. They will make their home in New Lenox.

Frankfort Farmer Has "Show" Pasture

Several Will County farmers have greatly increased their pasture production. Farmers who have an opportunity should stop at the A. C. Geuther farm, located on Route 45, one mile north of Frankfort and see the pasture demonstration which was started in September 1947. This pasture was limed and phosphated according to soil test requirements and then seeded with timothy, brome grass and a mixture of several different kinds of legumes. It is estimated that the production has at least trebled. What was done on this pasture can be done on practically all permanent pastures in Will County.

Many farmers are tiling a mixture of alfalfa and brome grass for both pasture and for hay and a few are securing even better results by adding one-half to one pound per acre of Ladino clover to the alfalfa-brome combination. Joseph Roth of DuPage township reports excellent results with this combination of two legumes and one grass.

Circular 647 was written by R. F. Fuelleman and W. L. Burlison of the agronomy department at the Illinois College of Agriculture and W. G. Kammlade, newly appointed associate director of the extension service, can be had free at the farm adviser's office, Joliet.

BREAK IN GAS PIPE BLEW DUST IN HOUSE

While the Yunker excavators from Mokena were working last Tuesday with a caterpillar tractor preparing ground for an addition of a new room to the Everett Merfeld home on Oak Street in New Lenox, a gas main broke inside the house, causing much confusion, but fortunately no fire.

It was a peculiar accident, as the excavating had not reached the gas pipes and the break was on the inside of the house. It is thought the weight of heavy stone and the caterpillar might have caused the pipes to break.

Mrs. Merfeld was inside the house and fortunately no gas was burning. She noticed a heavy yellow rust dust which filled every nook and corner of the house. Gas men who have worked with the company for many years stated they never have seen anything like it. The gas company responded at once to the call, and upon arriving quickly cut all electric wire connections in the house and also the gas main connection. The pressure of the natural gas is so strong it was explained, that it caused the rust from the pipes to be blown into the house.

Every piece of furniture, walls and rugs must be cleaned of the heavy rust. New Lenox firemen stood by all day in case a fire would break out. No one could stay in the house for one day, the air was so heavy with dust.

Applicants Asked to Send Full Fee For Driver's License

More than 15 per cent of persons applying for drivers' licenses are still unaware that the fee for an operator's license was increased from 50 cents to one dollar at the last session of the General Assembly, Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett has announced.

"Applications which arrive at our drivers' license division accompanied by a 50 cent fee cause inconvenience to the driver and added expense to the state," Barrett said, "because our only recourse is to return the application and fee to the applicant with a request for the proper fee."

"This slows up the process of getting the license to the driver and involves the department in correspondence which costs needless time and money."

TIME TO REDUCE THE WASTE LINE!

Times change, and so do economic theories. This is well illustrated by an article in U. S. News & World Report describing present government fiscal policies. It begins: "Reflation—revived inflation—is to be sought by government from here on out. Deflation, mild and brief, has proved too much for the White House to accept without trying to bring a turn back toward inflation."

Various stratagems will be employed, if the President has his way, in an effort to accomplish this. To quote the News again, "The expressed hope is that, if the plan succeeds, it will not result in a new inflation of prices. The objective, instead, is an expanded use of credit."

Mr. Truman's ideas on the subject were expressed, in part, in his Midyear Economic Report to Congress, and in his last radio talk to the nation. First of all, he is holding cautiously to his belief in the wisdom of big spending, even though a deficit results. For the current fiscal year, he wants a budget of about $42,000,000,000 which, it is reliably estimated, will mean a government operating loss in excess of $5,000,000,000.

He has, however, apparently changed his mind on the $4,000,000,000 tax increase he formerly favored. Some think he would even find tax decreases in certain fields acceptable. Sentiment in Congress would seem to favor this.

Not so long ago, the White House backed a "tight money" policy. Here, too, the President's stand seems entirely different now. Stock market margin requirements have been reduced. The controls on installment buying have been abandoned. Both the President and Congress favor liberalized credit plans for new housing.

As the U. S. News sums it up, "Policies of government, basically, will be aimed at stimulating a broader use of borrowed money, both by Government itself and by private individuals and industry. The plan to revive prosperity, the President predicts, eventually will lead to a national income of $300,000,000,000."

The President's Council of Economic Advisers put the situation in these words: "The mere fact that the Federal government is currently withdrawing well over $40,000,000,000 a year from private income channels and is disbursing a like or even greater amount into the market and income stream means that the government is already the most influential single factor in the current operation of the economy." The unanswered question is how long this kind of spending beyond income can be maintained without exhausting the nation.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bradley spent Sunday at the railroad fair. There was no school Monday because of the Will County Teacher's Institute in Joliet.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Jasalsky of Chicago was guests of Mrs. Sudnicki, Monday.

Mrs. Mary Paszkowski who has lived for many years on Hillside road was removed to St. James hospital in Chicago Heights last week where she is seriously ill with pneumonia. Her daughter, Mrs. Julian Shamasko of Oklahoma, and Mrs. Walter Turadek, Sr., of Chicago are here.

MID-CENTURY STYLING—Slim lines in bulky fabric are achieved through faultless tailoring by a famous Paris designer from her mid-century collection. Sweeping capes that screen each narrow sleeve give dramatic emphasis to the simple fitted jacket that tops an equally simple tubular skirt.

cousins, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Davidson last week. They and the Davidson's spent last week end in Gary, Ind., with Mrs. W. D. Ashton.

Mrs. Alvin Boze has been confined to her bed in her home on Lincoln Highway since she injured her head when she fell over some pipes in her ice cream store and hit her head against the freezer.

Richard Kay of Chicago spent the weekend with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kay.

Washington, D.C.—"With a Democrat President and a Democrat Congress, we will have the right kind of unity in this country."

President Truman said it October 13, 1948, in St. Paul, Minnesota.

The best example of the kind of "unity" he predicted for his administration and the 81st Democrat Congress developed here a few days ago when neither the administration nor the Democrat Congress knew exactly what the other was doing.

Illinois' Senator Scott Lucas, floor leader of that Democrat Congress, told a press conference on May 24 that Congress would adjourn by July 31. He added that many key measures of the President's legislative program would be postponed until the second session of the 81st Congress because "the program is very extensive and cannot all be carried out in a single session."

The present session would run 7 months according to Mr. Lucas' time table.

TRUMAN ACCUSES PRESS
Yet, President Truman, glibly listed the same program in his convention speech in Philadelphia last July 15 as the program for the special session of the Republican 80th Congress and said:

"They can do this job in 15 days, if they want to do it. They will still have time to go out and run for office."

Before Senator Lucas' July 31 deadline had barely made the newspapers, President Truman called in the press and announced bluntly that Congress would be held in session until the job was done no matter what Senator Lucas had to say about it.

Then confusion piled upon confusion when President Truman charged the press had failed to publish "all" of Senator Lucas' statement.

Could this confusion within the Democrat Party be what Mr. Truman meant when he said in Duluth, Minnesota, October 13 1948:

"There are a great many things you will get if you elect a Democrat Congress and Democrat Administration."

WHAT DID HE MEAN?
He couldn't possibly have meant what he said in the next breath: "The Taft-Hartley Act will be repealed."

He couldn't have meant, either, the "equal pay for equal work" plank in the Democrat platform; nor the 75-cent minimum wage that he said the Democrat Congress would vote.

He couldn't have meant federal housing because the bill that was passed was almost wholly Republican; nor could he have meant federal aid to education because the bill which passed was wholly Republican.

He might have meant what he said in Oklahoma City on September 28, 1948, there he said: "We are deporting subversive aliens. We shall continue to do so to the limit of the law."

However, we didn't know the limit of the law would extend to the manner in which we got rid of Gerhard Eisler, who incidentally, observed upon his arrival behind the Iron-curtain, that President Truman's attorney general, Tom Clark, "is the biggest fool in America."

An Experiment

Carl K. Schmidt, Jr., executive secretary of the Illinois public aid commission, has reported the results of a one-month experiment, during which he and his wife and their four children allowed themselves only $85.34 for food. This sum is five per cent less than a downstate family of that size on relief is getting for food after the ten per cent reduction in allocations put into effect by the aid commission on September 1.

Schmidt's family found they had to use less meat and use more milk and cheeses, and build their daily menus around the cheapest available items. He says living on a relief budget requires careful planning, judicious buying, and cutting out everything but the absolute necessities.

A Big Boost For Smitty!

Stepped into Smith's Department Store the other noon and saw the strangest thing. "Sis" Davis was coming up the stairs from the basement with a bundle of wash.

"Is Smitty taking in washing these days?" I asked. "Not quite," she says. "He's just put in a new automatic washing machine, so the girls who work here can get their laundry done while they're eating lunch. Means more time to relax at night and on weekends."

I thought what a swell boss Smitty must be. Human relations between the boss and employees have certainly taken a big step forward during my lifetime.

From where I sit, people seem to be doing a better job of seeing our neighbor's viewpoint these days. Though his ideas and tastes may not be ours, we can understand his preference for a certain breakfast cereal, a favorite movie star, or for a temperate glass of beer or ale. That's the way it should be in a free country.

SCRIPTURE: Isaiah 6.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Hosea 14.

What is a Call of God?

Lesson for October 2, 1949

IF YOU knew exactly what God wanted you to do, would you do it? Of course you would. The trouble is: How does any one know what God's will is?

For example, a young man is thinking about his life's work; what shall he choose? Most young men would do what they were sure God called them to do, but what is a call?

Dr. Foreman

The story of Isaiah throws some light on this problem. (We are beginning this week a three months' study of the great prophets Isaiah and Jeremiah.) True, he lived some 2700 years ago, and half way to the other side of the world; but human nature has not changed in 2700 years.

From Man about Town To Man of God

ISAIAH was a young man about town, in the small but wealthy city of Jerusalem, about 700 years before Christ. He was a personal friend of all the important people, a man of good education, with wide horizons of interest, of independent means, eloquent, polished, the sort of man who makes a good career diplomat.

He tells in some detail the story of how he came to be a prophet. The story is in Isaiah 6. Perhaps if we had been there with a camera and a wire recorder we might have been able to photograph the seraphim and take down their cries, just as Isaiah saw and heard them.

What we do know is that that experience changed Isaiah's life. Up to that time (on his own showing) he had been a "man of unclean lips;" from that time on he began to be a spokesman for the Lord. Let us try to say what the story of that life-changing vision, that call, means in terms of our own experience.

The Flame of God

FIRST there was the overwhelming sense of God's reality and power and holy majesty. No one can ever experience a call who does not take God seriously.

A God "afar off," a God who is only a problem, an idea, a hypothesis, never called any one. God alone can make himself real to man; and only a man with a real sense of a living God is going to hear his call.

Next came Isaiah's realization of his own unfitness and sin. A man who feels equal to a great task is probably not equal to it. "Them as knows nawthin' fears nawthin'," as the Irish say. A man who feels good enough to serve God, just as he is, is not good enough. A man without a sense of sin is too full of it.

Then comes the burning coal from the altar; Isaiah feels that his guilt is gone. No one can fully do God's will with an unforgotten heart. Isaiah was not sinless at one stroke, of course, yet it is possible to turn from all known sin; it is possible to devote one's loyalty to God; and this Isaiah did.

It was only then that he heard the call: Whom shall I send? In modern and less picturesque language, Isaiah was conscious of a need he had not felt before—that is, of God's need, of his people's need.

What those needs were will come out in later studies. The point is that young Isaiah, who hitherto had lived only for himself, now saw the need of the city and the people among whom he lived.

"Here Am I; Send Me."

THEN comes the last stage—Isaiah's willing offer of himself. His great talent was the ability to use language. He could make words march and sing as few men of any race have done. But up to that time, it seems, his gift of eloquence had been used chiefly in telling dirty stories.

Now he has repented, and been forgiven, and he says to God: Use me. His voice, his knowledge, his eloquence, which he had been using against God (or at best, only for Isaiah) he was now to use for God and man.

So there is a call: A sense of God, near and commanding and holy; repentance; forgiveness; a sense of need; willingness to devote all one's gifts to fill that need.

SITE SOME CLUB'S ACTIVITIES FOR MAKING BETTER COMMUNITIES

Third District Woman's clubs are working extensively on the "Build a Better Community" contest sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs in conjunction with the Kroger company who will give $60,000 for prizes in a year-long, nation-wide contest. The purpose of the contest is to encourage community improvement programs. Prizes will be awarded at the GFWC convention in Boston the last week in May, 1950. Judging by the Federation will be based on the project's value to the community, on thoroughness of organization, effort expended, results obtained and the quality of the Club's report on their community service activities.

Chicago Lawn Woman's Club's project is to help finance a new auditorium for the YMCA, to be erected on two lots donated by the club. They have many plans for raising money, including ice cream socials, television parties, teas at member's homes, articles will be crocheted, embroidered and knitted, pies and cakes will be baked. Recently a musicale was given by the Marquette Park chorus and the proceeds were donated to the contest fund.

Chicago Lawn Young Woman's club are having a series of family workshops on Friday evenings to interest families in working together. These include carpentry for boys and their dads, and sewing for mothers and daughters, leather goods articles and working with plaster molds. At their November club meeting they will display the various accomplishments, including informal singing, which has been an outgrowth of working together. "Families that work and play together will stay together." Teeners interested in photography come in for their share under the Club's education program thru an organization called "The Shutterbugs" which meets at the Chicago Lawn branch library. The Club will also conduct a discussion group for parents on "Understanding Childhood."

Palos Park Woman's club is gathering sick room supplies to loan out, working with their youth group and attempting to improve conditions existing at the post office. Palos Heights Woman's club's project is to start a fund for the construction of a community building for community use and to house the library which the Club founded about six years ago, and have been actively supporting since. They instituted the "Working Dollar Plan" with each member raising a few dollars for the fund.—Mrs. A. Douglas Coe, District Press ch.

IN MEMORIAM
WYMER—Harold Leroy. In loving memory of our son who passed away two years ago September 29. Sweet little flower of heavenly birth. He was too fair to bloom on earth. MR. & MRS. HAROLD WYMER Sr. and FAMILY

IN MEMORIAM
STELTER—Minnie. In loving memory of our dear wife and mother who passed away October 4, 1942. Seven years have passed since that sad day.

When one we loved, God called away HUSBAND and CHILDREN

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Orland Park Volunteer Firemen was held Monday evening, Sept. 19, in the Village Hall.

During the business session the new by-laws were read for the first time. There will be two additional readings after which action will be taken on adopting them. All members are urged to be present at the next meeting to state their opinion of the by-laws.

The gypsy baskets are still being circulated and everyone is invited to contribute. Please be sure to contact your neighbor before you pass the basket on, as several times in the past it has been left unattended on door steps.

Mrs. Richard Nitsche and Mrs. Harold Wymer served refreshments at the close of the meeting.
Mrs. Warren McCauley entertained a group of playmates of her daughter Alice McCauley, in honor of her fourth birthday recently. All enjoyed playing games and refreshments were served.
